

THE EUROPEAN UNION AND THE EURO

A Workshop for K-12 Educators

MAY 12 - 13, 2011

SPEAKER BIOGRAPHIES

GALI BEERI. Gali Beeri is the International Education Program Coordinator for the European Union Center of Excellence and the Center for European Studies at UNC at Chapel Hill. She joined the Center full time in May 2004 and coordinates outreach programs, exhibiting and presenting at local and national conferences, and produces the Center's biweekly newsletter. She holds a B.A. in International Studies and Political Science with a Business Administration minor from UNC at Chapel Hill.

STANLEY BLACK. Stanley Black is UNC at Chapel Hill Georges Lurcy Professor of Economics emeritus. Black's government experience has included service with the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the Federal Reserve Board, and the Department of State. He has been a visiting scholar or professor at the Institute of International Economics in Stockholm, the University of Siena, Yale University, the Brookings Institution, the International Monetary Fund, and was Bundesbank Visiting Professor at the Free University in Berlin. Most recently, he was Senior Policy Advisor at the Institute of the International Monetary Fund. Black received his Ph.D. in Economics from Yale University.

CARINA BROSSY. Carina Brossy is World View's Assistant Director for Curriculum. She works with teachers and administrators to develop and support globally focused curriculum in all areas of the Standard Course of Study. Carina also serves as coordinator for World View's annual study visits to Costa Rica, as an instructor for World View's K-12 online globalization course, and develops additional professional development programs for World View.

EMANUEL COMAN. Emanuel Coman is a doctoral student in political science and University fellow originally from Romania. He is mainly interested in European party politics, and his M.A. thesis was on vote cohesion in the European Parliament. In the summer of 2007, he was a visiting researcher at the University of Mannheim in Germany.

ERICA EDWARDS. Erica Edwards is the Executive Director for the UNC Center for European Studies and European Union Center of Excellence. Prior to joining the Center in August 2009, she held academic positions at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Vienna, Austria, and the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. Her main research and teaching interests are in the fields of comparative politics, political parties and party systems, European integration, and public opinion. She received her Ph.D. in Political Science from UNC at Chapel.

BANU GÖKARIKSEL. Banu Gökariksel is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Geography and Curriculum in Global Studies at UNC at Chapel Hill and an adjunct faculty member in the Department of Women's Studies at Duke University. She is a cultural geographer interested in how subjects, particularly women, form their identities through every day practices. Gökariksel examines the links between the intimate space of the body and spaces such as the home, street, shopping mall and city. Her interest in such topics is rooted in her living and research experience in Turkey, where she has been conducting fieldwork since 1996.

MILADA VACHUDOVA. Milada Vachudova specializes in the democratization of post communist Europe, the enlargement of the European Union, and the impact of international actors on domestic politics. She is an Associate Professor of Political Science at UNC at Chapel Hill. Her book, Europe Undivided: Democracy, Leverage and Integration After Communism, was published by Oxford University Press in 2005 and was awarded the Stein Rokkan Prize for Comparative Social Science Research and the 2006 Marshall Shulman Prize from the American Association for the Advancement of Slavic Studies. Vachudova received a B.A. from Stanford University and a D.Phil. in Politics from the University of Oxford.