

The European Union and the Euro
A K-12 Workshop
MAY 6 - 7, 2010

Speaker Biographies

GALI BEERI. Gali Beer is the International Education Program Coordinator for the European Union Center of Excellence/Center for European Studies at the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill. She joined the center full time in May 2004. She coordinates the Center's outreach programs, exhibiting and presenting at local and national conferences, and produces the Center's biweekly newsletter. She holds a B.A. in International Studies and Political Science with a Business Administration minor from UNC-Chapel Hill.

STANLEY BLACK. Born in Charlotte, North Carolina, Stanley W. Black graduated from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill with Honors in Economics in 1961. Subsequently, he received his Ph. D. in Economics from Yale University and taught first at Princeton University and then at Vanderbilt University. In 1983 he returned to the University of North Carolina as Georges Lurcy Professor of Economics, serving as Department Chairman from 1985 to 1990. His government experience has included service with the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the Federal Reserve Board, and the Department of State. He has been a visiting scholar or professor at the Institute of International Economics in Stockholm, the University of Siena, Yale University, the Brookings Institution, the International Monetary Fund, and was Bundesbank Visiting Professor at the Free University in Berlin in Summer 1997. From 1994 to 1997 he was nonresident Director of Economic Studies for the American Institute of Contemporary German Studies of the Johns Hopkins University in Washington, DC. Most recently, he was Senior Policy Advisor at the IMF Institute of the International Monetary Fund during 2000-2001. He became an emeritus professor in 2008.

CARINA BROSSY. Carina Brossy is World View's Assistant Director for Curriculum. She works with teachers and administrators to develop and support globally focused curriculum in all areas of the Standard Course of Study. Carina also serves as coordinator for World View's annual study visit to Honduras (a lesson in third world development), an instructor for World View's K-12 online globalization course, and liaison for the Rotary Global WebFriends and Ambassador programs. Carina holds degrees in International Affairs and Spanish from Florida State University and speaks Spanish, French, and some Mandarin.

EMANUEL COMAN. Emanuel Coman is a fourth year Ph.D. student in political science and University fellow originally from Romania. He is mainly interested in European party politics, and his MA thesis was on vote cohesion in the European Parliament. In the summer of 2007, he was a visiting researcher at the University of Mannheim in Germany.

ERICA EDWARDS. Erica Edwards is the Executive Director for the UNC Center for European Studies and European Union Center of Excellence. She received her PhD in Political Science from UNC Chapel Hill in 2007 and has been involved in a number of the Center's programs during her graduate study, most notably the Chapel Hill Expert Survey on Party Positioning and the UNC Video Consortium in EU Studies. Erica completed her undergraduate degree at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville and obtained an MA in European Studies from the College of Europe in Bruges, where she was a Fulbright Scholar. Prior to joining CES in August 2009, she held academic positions at the Institute for Advanced Studies (IHS) in Vienna, Austria, and the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. Her main research and teaching interests are in the fields of comparative politics, political parties and party systems, European integration, and public opinion.

LIESBET HOOGHE. Liesbet Hooghe is Zachary Taylor Smith Professor of Political Science at the University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, and Chair in Multilevel Governance at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. She is past Chair of the European Union Studies Association. Her interests lie in European integration, multilevel governance, political parties, political elites, and public opinion. She is working on a book on the structure of government from the local to the global.

GARY MARKS. Gary Marks is Burton Craige Distinguished Professor of Political Science at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, and has the Chair in Multilevel Governance at the Free University of Amsterdam. Marks was the founding director of the Center for European Studies at UNC from 1994 to 2006. His books include Multi-Level Governance and European Integration, with Liesbet Hooghe; It Didn't Happen Here: Why Socialism Failed in the United States, with Seymour Martin Lipset; and European Integration and Political Conflict with Marco Steenbergen.