

Full-Time Communications and Website Internship:

The Exodus Institute is also looking for a specialized intern to focus on the production of The Exodus Institute newsletter and communication materials, media outreach, and webpage design/updates in addition to research and other general office duties. Communications interns also assist in production of materials for major events and update The Exodus Institute brochure. Applicants must be available to work a minimum of two full days per week, be familiar with WordPress and plug-ins.

Full-Time Social Media Internship:

The Exodus Institute is looking for a specialized intern to focus on social media management. The intern will be responsible to creating posts, researching content and developing a schedule for all social media platforms. Applicants must be social media savvy, be available via Skype or FaceTime to connect for one-hour meetings once per week and be available via email for multiple touch points throughout the week.

Special Benefits of Interning at The Exodus Institute:

Exposure to field of immigration. Opportunities to learn more about international issues, research and content writing on issues related to immigration and human rights, leadership development and the operations of a small nonprofit.

About The Exodus Institute:

Based in Washington, D.C., The Exodus Institute was founded in 2017 inspired by the spirit of the Exodus ship. The historic voyage of the Exodus vessel carried Jewish migrants from Europe to the Middle East in 1947, displaced after surviving the Holocaust. Today, more than 65 million people are displaced due to conflict, intolerance, economic disparity, and environmental disasters. These challenges continue to increase, driving forced migration and creating one of the greatest humanitarian crises of the century. As drivers of migration escalate, so too does negative sentiment.

A key component of our mission is to mobilize the private and international sectors to address the forced migration crisis. We aim to create a public awareness campaign, whereby we present the nation's willingness and continued ability to absorb immigration as both necessary to and consistent with our democratic values. History has shown that immigration is our tradition; and it has defined and refined our democracy. Through an understanding of the economic, political, and social drivers of immigration in the past, we can create an understanding of how immigration today is a continuation of this long history.

Compensation:

Part-time internships are unpaid. Full-time interns who commit to 3.5 months during the school year and/or during the summer are eligible for a $1,000 stipend upon completion of the internship. Our internship program is only open to US citizens and permanent residents or students who are eligible to work in the United States. We are unable to sponsor visas.

The Exodus Institute
1320 19th Street, NW Suite 600
Washington, DC 20036
United States

info@theexodusinstitute.org
theexodusinstitute.org

(202) 753-6905

To Apply:

Please send a cover letter (including your availability), resume, two-page writing sample (short paper or excerpt), contact information for three references, and an unofficial copy of your transcript to:

The Exodus Institute
Attn: Anne Gallagher
1320 19th Street NW, Suite 600
Washington, DC 20036
Email: anne@theexodusinstitute.org

Early applications are strongly encouraged

Applicants under consideration will be contacted for an interview.

Informational Interview:

A representative from The Exodus Institute will be on-campus February 28 and March 1 to provide information about the organization.

Deadline:

March 15th

The Exodus Institute
1320 19th Street, NW Suite 600
Washington, DC 20036
United States

info@theexodusinstitute.org
theexodusinstitute.org

(202) 753-6905