“EU”-ducate Yourself!

Bonjour! Guten tag! Ciao!

The European Union (EU) is a confederation (or a group) of 27 member countries in Europe, started in 1957. It has created a common economic area with Europe-wide laws allowing people to move and trade in other EU countries almost the same as they do on their own. This means that a German citizen can work and live in France without needing a visa, passport, or any kind of special paperwork. They can come and go as they please. The EU operates like our government! Just as the federal government creates laws for the U.S., but instead of states, it oversees 27 European countries.
